

I believe that people who signed up to not be called really do not want to be called. So I believe that the current restricted calls should be upheld and not weakened in any way. If I wanted to be called I would not lie to telemarketers all the time.